Instruction Manual

WARNING: The portals in Narbacular Drop can induce extreme states of disorientation. If beholding their magnificence causes you to feel lightheaded, weak, and/or dizzy discontinue play immediately. Then invite a friend over and say, "You gotta see this!" Have them play as you shield your eyes from the nauseating images.

Story

Once upon a time a Princess wandered through the forest bordering her Kingdom in search of adventure. Or perhaps she was lost? Well, it does not really matter why she was in that forest, because suddenly the ground beneath her parted and swallowed her whole. She fell and slid, but mostly fell. When the dust cleared she found herself locked in a chain cage of a dungeon.

She cried for help. To her surprise a godly voice answered, "I will help you! But in return you will help me!"

Portals

What are portals?

Portals are a rift in the fabric of space that allow an object to travel into one portal and teleport out another. Wally can open two interlinked portals within his walls. You must tell him where to create the portals to navigate the dungeon and solve puzzles.

Where can I place portals?

On any wall, ceiling, or floor made of dirt or stone. The demon living in the dungeon has covered some surfaces with metal plating that portals can not be created on.

What can I use portals for?

A variety of tasks. You may want to get up to a high ledge. Place a portal on the ceiling over the ledge and one on the floor near the Princess. Walk over the floor portal and you will fall on to the ledge. This is only an example. Experiment with the portals to discover their various uses.
